Form 1099-G

Department of the Treasury - Internal Revenue Service

Form 1099-G. Certain Government
Instructions for Recipient

This is important tax information and is being furnished to the Internal Revenue Service. If you are required to file a return, a negligence penalty or other sanction may be imposed on you if this income is taxable and the IRS determines that it has not been reported. Box reference numbers are those used on Federal form 1099-G.

Box 2 - Shows refunds you received. If there is any entry in this box, it may be taxable if you deducted the tax paid as an itemized deduction on your Federal income tax return. See the instructions for Form 1040 or 1040A for more information.

Box 3 - This identifies the tax year for which the refund shown in Box 2 was made.

Box 4 - Is for backup withholding. For example, persons not furnishing their taxpayer identifying number to the payer become subject to backup withholding at a 30% rate on certain payments. See Form W-9, Payer's Request for Taxpayer Identification Number and Certification, for information on backup withholding. Include this on your income tax return as tax withheld.

Box 5 - shows your indebtedness to a Federal government agency that is discharged this year as no longer collectible. This debt generally becomes taxable income to you at the time the debt is discharged. However, there are exceptions to this rule: for example, if you are insolvent or have declared bankruptcy. See Publication 908, Bankruptcy and Other Debt Cancellation, for additional information.

This form 1099-G is being furnished pursuant to a federal law which requires State and local governments each January to supply individual taxpayers with a statement concerning refunds of earnings or income taxes made during the preceding calendar year. The Form 1099-G contains information concerning a refund that was paid.

NOTE: A 2024 Form 1099-G will include refunds paid during 2024. A taxpayer who was paid a refund with respect to two or more taxable years will receive a separate form 1099-G for each taxable year.
